

The Hot Springs Children's Dance Theatre strives to redefine professional expression in drama, music, and dance. Its inclusive, educational, and creative approach brings the relevance of dance to our community through programs that resonate with timeless emotion and historical depth. The artistic director is Edmond Cooper.

Jim and Leah Servais pursued ballroom dancing when they first got married, 33 years ago, as an activity to do together. Jim played Sam, and Leah was in the chorus in the 2021 Village Players performance of Mamma Mia. Currently, Leah choreographs and dances with Spa City Tappers and Jim performs with Village Chorale and in a Musical Duo with Nancy Carlton called "TopTunes" who frequently perform with the Tappers.

ABOUT THE PERFORMERS

Emma Millard and Lillian Felton are members of the Ouachita Dance Company, a student-led organization of Ouachita Baptist University that creates opportunities for artists of all backgrounds to experience the joy found through movement that expresses the reality of God's presence. Emma has been dancing since she was 11, focusing mainly on classical ballet, but also exploring modern, musical theatre, contemporary, jazz, and tap. She is a Strategic Communications major with Dance and Psychology minors. Lillian has trained for 16 years in ballet, jazz, modern, contemporary, tap, and musical theatre. She is pursuing a double major in Christian Studies and Communications with a minor in Dance.

Sidney and Sophia Bohlen are sisters who share a passion for the performing art of dance in its various forms. Sidney has been dancing for 13 years and Sophia for 10 years. Both train at Natural State Dance under the direction of Taylor Moneagle, where they study a wide range of styles including acro, ballet, contemporary, tap, jazz, hip hop, musical theater, modern, and lyrical.

Cathy Harmon studied dance at Arizona State University and brings a deep love of movement and expression to her teaching. She has over 16 years of experience leading liturgical dance in a variety of churches throughout Texas. Cathy is passionate about creating a welcoming and meaningful environment where participants of all ages can explore dance as both an art form and a form of spiritual expression.
